When She Drew the United States Into War Says Chancellor Andrew Bonar Law at a Lunch Given Medil McCormick

(By Associated Press.)
London, Sept. 12.—Andrew Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchequer, speaking at a lunch given by the Empire Parliamentary Association to Medil McCormick, said that in everything connected with the military arm the Germans had shown remarkable success, but their mistakes in dealing with human nature had been the salvation of the Entente.

No mistake will be so great as that of drawing the United States into war. The Germans lately, Mr. Bonar Law said, had been saying that the Entente were relying on the United States as their last hold. I want to say, as Chancellor of the Exchequer, something that I should not have cared to say six months ago, that without the United States' financial assistance the Allies would have been in bad financial straits.

EXETER

Exeter, Sept. 12.—Crops, and war gardens were damaged to the extent of many hundreds of dollars by the frost of Monday night, many acres of vegetables were practically killed.

Frost warnings were given out to farmers in this section late in the afternoon, and many tomatoes and squashes were protected, but beans and corn in the open were victims to the heaviest frost for such an early date for many years.

It was not only a killing frost, but a freeze as a temperature of 29 degrees was recorded, which froze water to the thickness of a quarter of an inch. The dry weather of the early season had put the crops back, and they had not reached their full growth at this time of the season. Heavy damage was reported by every farmer in the surrounding country and the gardens about town fared the same. The potato crop, although somewhat affected, did not fare as badly as the others, as many of them had ripened.

Mrs. Harriet Thompson, wife of Rev. William S. Thompson, a retired Congregational minister of Hampton Falls, died at her home in that town early Tuesday morning in her 84th year.

COMEDIAN IMPERSONATING HULA GIRL GETS IN BAD.

One of the laughable incidents that occasionally brighten the arduous working hours of the Boston picture actor, occurred with Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran were making "The Night Cap" on board the steamship Yale, en route from San Diego to Los Angeles.

In the action of this Nestor Two-reel comedy, Lyons and Moran are captured on board as stowaways and compelled by the captain to take the places of two Hawaiian entertainers, who missed the boat. In order to obtain the audience of passengers the director sent word through the ship that there would be Hawaiian singing and dancing on the hurricane deck at a given hour.

Eddie and Lee appeared in Hawaiian costumes, Eddie as a musician and Lee as a dancing girl, and so perfect were their make-ups and so well hidden was the cameraman, that the audience was unaware of the fact that the audience was anything other than the genuine article. They received the applause with bow after bow and the camera got it all.

The joke nearly boomeranged on the comedians, however, for when they made their exit Lee Moran, in the hula-hula dancer's costume, was followed by an admiring male passenger who had imbibed a bit too much and who had taken it upon himself to fall into immediate and ardent love with the supposed hula girl. His wife saw what he was up to and followed, determined to chastise the Hawaiian charmer who was luring her husband from the straight and narrow path. It looked like an all-around battle until officers of the ship led the husband and wife away and allowed Lyons and Moran to retreat to their staterooms in peace.

TWO INJURED IN COLLISION ON WENTWORTH ROAD

CARS SIDE-SWIPE EACH OTHER. BOY AND WOMAN CUT AND BRUISED.

What came near being a repetition of the accident on the Sagamore Road Sunday last, place Tuesday evening on the Wentworth road in front of the Richardson college, where a car owned and driven by Captain Redford Sargent of Wrentham, N. J., was run into and side-swiped by a touring car said to be owned by L. B. Kent of Bangor, and two people on the Sargent car were badly injured.

Accompanying Captain Sargent were his wife, his son Paul, Mrs. Rena Jarvis and Mrs. Charles Pickering, on a visit to Mr. Kenneth Stuart in New Castle. They were driving along the Wentworth road when they saw the other car coming and as it was well over on the middle of the road Captain Sargent pulled his car clear over to the board walk, but the driver of the other car was unable to get it turned quick enough and the two cars collided.

The Maine car, a Packard, struck the left front wheel and tore away all of the side mud guards and running board.

Paul Sargent was thrown through the side shield and he was severely cut about the neck and head. Mrs. Jarvis was thrown out and she received a bad scalp wound and was unconscious for a time with a slight concussion.

Neither Captain Sargent, his wife or

Mrs. Pickering were injured except from the shock, and today in the other car was injured.

As soon as possible word was phoned to Dr. R. S. Towle and he sent Mrs. Jarvis and Paul Sargent to Mr. Stuart's home in New Castle where they were treated for their injuries.

The Packard car was badly damaged, the mud guards being torn off and the hood and front wheel smashed. Later both of the cars were enabled to be towed from that place.

The driver of the Maine car said that he had stopped to take in two soldiers who were walking toward the street car, and that that reason was on the wrong side of the road and they came upon the Sargent car before they could get over where they belonged.

MRS. KENNISTON FOUND GUILTY IN SECOND DEGREE

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Sept. 12.—Mrs. Alvin Kenniston was found guilty of murder in the second degree today for participating in the killing July 6 of Alice Bradshaw, the crippled 3-year-old daughter of a neighbor. The jury deliberations lasted but 40 minutes.

The defendant's attorney explained to her that the penalty for murder in the second degree would be life imprisonment under the Vermont law. Mrs. Kenniston appeared relieved and smiled faintly.

LEMONS BRING OUT THE HIDDEN BEAUTY

Make this lotion for very little cost and just see for yourself.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes? To bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way: Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quart of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily to the face, neck, arms and hands, it should help to bleach, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and then you have the lemons.

FREED OF LAST VICTIM OF LIQUOR

Portland, Me., Sept. 11.—Not a prisoner remains in the county jail serving time for intoxication. Nobody can remember when a similar condition existed. The last person of this class was released this morning.

DISMANTLE RADIO PLANT AT EASTPORT

Eastport, Me., Sept. 11.—The government has ordered the dismantling of the new radio station at the plant of the Seacoast Canning Company, where four young officers of the U. S. radio service have been on constant duty since June, when the outfit was set up at a cost of about $1000, part of which was paid by the city and the balance by the sailing company. The wireless plant was presented to the government without cost.

Just why it will be discontinued is not generally known. It is stated that the young operators are to be transferred to Machias or Bar Harbor. Mayor Eldridge is trying to induce the navy department to have the station kept here during the war.

MRS. MARY R. PIKE OF
NEWFIELDS, N. H., 102

Newfields, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Mary R. Pike today received many congratulations and remembrances on her 102d birthday. Save for impaired hearing her faculties and general health are remarkable.

During the past summer she has paid her wanted visit to Hedding, the Methodist resort at Epping, and has participated in various social events. At her wish the celebration of today's anniversary was informal and quiet.

As the daughter of Rev. John Broadhead, a founder of New Hampshire Methodism, and prominent in public life, and the widow of Rev. James Pike, likewise prominent in professional, public and military life, Mrs. Pike is apart from her great age, a woman of note. Her retentive memory harks back to the times of Andrew Jackson, her father's friend. The present also interests her. As the wife, mother and sister of soldiers in the Civil war, and the grandmother of one in the war with Spain, she is especially interested in the present war.

FREE IN LONDON'S FIRST UN- WRITTEN LAW CASE.

London, Sept. 11.—Lieutenant Douglas Malcolm, who was being tried for the murder of Anton Baumburg, a pseudo count, was today found not guilty by a jury at the Old Bailey Police Court. The case was the first to be tried here in which the "unwritten law" was the sole defence.

A coroner's jury had returned a verdict of "justifiable homicide" after hearing Lieutenant Malcolm's plea that he had killed Baumburg "in defence of his wife's honor." The case was one of the most sensational seen in London in many years.

ATTENDS FUNERAL OF C. E. B. FOLSON

Pittsfield, N. H., Sept. 11.—The funeral of Charles E. B. Folson who was killed in an automobile accident at Rye, N. H., Sunday took place at St. Stephen's Episcopal church this afternoon and was largely attended. Bishop Parker of Concord was assisted in the service by Rev. H. A. Remick of this town. The Ladies Male Quartet of Boston sang. The bearers were Paul Doe of Concord, Clark C. Hall, William M. Tinker and Otto F. Barker. Burial was in Floral Park cemetery.

Inexpensive Floors that Look as Well as Hardwood

When a floor is bare and polished, it is often referred to as a "hardwood" floor, when such is not the case. The reference has come to apply more to the style than to the wood itself. There are today other woods on the market which cost far less than hardwood, are just as beautiful, and wear practically as well. We can show you these stained in beautiful colors.

Note—Among the woods mentioned above, one of the most conspicuous for its beauty, quality and reasonable price is North Carolina Pine—for floor and trim.

MAINE GIRL TELLS OF BEING DRUGGED

Auburn, Me., Sept. 11.—Dr. and Mrs. Royal B. Record of this city returned today from their summer home at Pine Point earlier than they had intended on account of a bold attempt made on Saturday to kidnap their daughter, Eleanor, aged 8.

The girl disappeared at about 9 o'clock Saturday morning and a long search failed to discover any trace of her. Finally about 5.30 in the afternoon she was found half-conscious in the sand under the piazza of a neighboring vacant house.

After she had recovered she told her parents that while she was playing on the beach two men and a woman came up to her and wanted her to go with them. She refused and then they tried to give her some candy and when she refused it, tried to force some of it into her mouth.

"Then the man took a bottle," she said, "that had something red with green spots in it, the lady had a big bag big enough to put me in, and then I told them to let me go and I kicked and screamed, but they crowded around me, the man put a wet cloth over my face, and the lady pulled the bag down over me and I went to sleep in the sand."

The motive for the act is a mystery. It is thought that the kidnappers put her under the piazza intending to remove her later, but that she recovered from the effects of the drug used sooner than was anticipated. The matter has been placed in the hands of the Cumberland county officials for investigation.

WILSONS ARE AT NEW LONDON

New London, Sept. 11.—President and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson arrived from Gloucester about 6 o'clock this evening after an uneventful 12-hour voyage along the southern New England coast.

The President's daughter reached the New York Yacht club station just as clocks were chiming the hour of 7.

GIRL PAGE WANTED BY MISS RANKIN

Washington, Sept. 11.—Suffrage took a juvenile turn here today when Miss Rankin, the congresswoman from Montana, announced she is trying to obtain young Miss Cecelia Martin a position as a house page.

Miss Martin, a businesslike lady of 14 years, wants to study law, and she appeared in Miss Rankin's office this morning to apply for the position of page. She told Miss Rankin she thought the work would help her in her law studies when she grows older, and asked why a girl could not be a page if a woman could be a member of congress.

The lady from Montana promised to exert every effort to have the girl appointed.

Cecelia is the daughter of Philip Martin, a steel expert employed here, who formerly resided in Pennsylvania.

MONTREAL MEN ADMIT AIDING IN DYNAMITE THEFT

Montreal, Sept. 11.—Admission of complicity in the theft of dynamite from the Martineau quarry on the night of August 2 and the assertion that Handfield, now dead by his own hand, and Monette, when asked whether they committed the Caterville outrage answered yes and then no, were features of the written confession of Elie Lalumiere, sprung as a sensation late this afternoon at the trial of the dynamite gang in the police court.

The defendant also declared that everything he had done was under the threat of death from Handfield, Monette and Tremblay. As discussion arose as to the admission of the confession as evidence, court was adjourned until tomorrow to consider the point.

Raoul Cyr, Aurie Goyer and Romeo Wisnialner stood charged with the attempted murder of Lord Altholstan, Lady Altholstan and the Hon. Alice Graham.

Charles Gagnon and J. A. Tremblay stood charged with the theft of the dynamite from the Martineau quarry.

ters Aug. 2, last. Nerre Henry Archibald, Louis Bolduc, Joseph Parquette and Arthur Blackwell were charged with having dynamite in their possession under circumstances such as to lead the authorities to presume that they had it for an illicit purpose. Elie Lalumiere stood charged with stealing dynamite, with having caused an explosion which threatened the lives of others and having attempted to murder.

The case of J. A. Tremblay, charged with stealing dynamite from the Martineau quarry, was the first to be taken up. The confession made by him in court last week was read to him. In this confession he said that the idea of stealing the dynamite and of using it for the purpose of destruction came to him and others at one of the meetings held to protest against conscription. Four of five men got together and agreed to steal the dynamite. All were sworn to secrecy under pain of being shot by the others. They set out from Lalumiere's residence and went to the quarry, all armed but himself. At the point of their revolvers they stole the dynamite and returned by the way of St. Lawrence boulevard.

Tremblay was asked if he would admit the truth of the confession and he refused to commit himself. He was very nervous. This put a stop to the Tremblay case for the time being and Lalumiere was called.

ALLIES NEEDN'T ACT.

London, Sept. 11.—The following statement from an authoritative source was made to the Associated Press yesterday with reference to the revelations concerning Sweden:

"There is no need for any action on the part of the Allies regarding the Swedish exposures, nor is any action, joint or otherwise, contemplated. The facts as narrated speak for themselves. This is not a case of any quarrel on the part of the Allies with the Swedish people but of individual action by individual officials, which, it is confidently believed, will be strongly resented by Swedish people. There can be no doubt that Sweden will take the earliest opportunity to explain her position and this, it is hoped, will clear the air and even lead to a better understanding. It is well known that there is a small militarist group in Sweden, which might possibly approve of such behavior as has now come to light, but it is confidently expected that the bulk of the Swedish people will share the view of the world at large regarding the barbarous intrigues of Germany. Telegrams from Buenos Aires show that the disclosures have caused great excitement and, in the view of the leading politicians, serious action by the Argentine Government will become necessary."

Portsmouth, N. H., Wednesday, September 12, 1917.

A Highly Commendable Proposal.

A most commendable proposal has been made by manufacturing representatives to the National Defense League. This is that a conference of manufacturing interests and labor unions should be held and an agreement reached which would effectually preclude strikes during the period of the war.

If the manufacturers and workmen of the country are as patriotic as they profess to be—and there is no reason to doubt that they are—it should be easily possible to bring about an industrial condition that would be undisturbed by labor troubles until peace is restored. And if this were done it is highly probable that the benefits of peace in the industrial world would prove so pronounced that the system by which such peace was secured would be continued after the war.

For a long time there has been a growing feeling on the part of a large body of the American people that arbitration should take the place of strikes as a means of adjusting labor difficulties. The cost of labor strikes to employers, employees and the public is immense. The shutting down of a large industry or the crippling of a street railway means not only serious inconvenience, but a large money loss to all concerned, as has been proved time and time again. The strike is a crude and cruel method of adjustment at the best, and it should certainly have no place in the industrial affairs of the nation while the nation is at war.

If the manufacturers and the labor unions would take the right view of this matter and get together like sane and reasonable men they should be able to reach an agreement that would sidetrack everything, resembling a strike during the period of the war, at least. Such action would not necessarily preclude disagreements between employers and employees, but it would provide a way for the settlement of their differences without the stoppage of industries and the subjection of thousands of working men and women to periods of enforced idleness.

It is to be hoped that this proposal may receive the attention it deserves. It is based on common sense and common fairness. The results would inure to the benefit of all directly concerned and to the public as well, while the arm of the government would be materially strengthened by the uninterrupted movement of industry in all its branches. At present there is too much striking and strike talk in the country. This is entirely out of place at a time like this. There should be a remedy for this evil, and one will certainly be found if it is sought in sincerity and good faith. The quest should begin without delay and every manufacturer and workman in the country should cheerfully lend a hand to the furtherance of the good work proposed.

There are times when public sympathy is with workmen in their efforts to better their condition, but in view of all the conditions it is fairly safe to say that the present action of the mechanics of the Boston and Maine railroad is not endorsed by the public. At a time when the government is trying to alleviate the burdens caused by the war labor should be slow to add to those burdens by pressing demands for which there is not the most ample justification.

It ought not to be necessary to legislate to prevent any American from receiving emolument, office or title from any king or foreign government. Yet a bill to this effect has been introduced in Congress because King George of England wants to make a Sir Knight of former Ambassador Gerard. Mr. Gerard should be able to take care of this case without the aid of Congress.

Father Chidwick, who was chaplain of the battleship Maine when it was sunk in Havana harbor, agrees with President Wilson in respecting and honoring the motive of the Pope, and also in the conclusion that the time for talking peace has not yet arrived. Peace will come in its own good time, but there are some other things that must come first.

Dartmouth is to have a football team in spite of the fact that most of the members of the team as it existed are now in the service of their country. But there will be plenty of recruits to fill the ranks and the "pigskin" will continue to command its share of attention at this seat of learning.

The Hampton Beach Labor Day carnival was an unequalled success. The beach was an admirable place for the great gathering that assembled and the program filled the bill in every particular.

These Dover fishermen should be greatly relieved to know that they are at liberty not only to fish in Portsmouth waters, but to use all the liquid "bait" they please. It is a great privilege.

COMMENT

The Honorable "Five-Per-Cent" (From the Cincinnati Times-Star)
It was not so long ago that we heard gloomy forebodings as to what very likely would occur should the United States adopt the draft. Wednesday's events showed how false were the fears of the timorous and the prophecies of those who secretly hoped for the worst.

It was a small beginning, it is true. But the principle and the big fact of national consecration were successfully established. Instead of the men of the "first five per cent" marching away under odium as "conscript" they went away full of honors, respected, supported, and by many even envied. And this was precisely what every discerning American all along confidently had expected.

In The First Line

(From the Baltimore American)
The "First to Fight" recruits have just reason to be proud of their record. They have realized, as, perhaps, no other body of our new armies, the seriousness of their position. They are in training for but one purpose and that is—to get ready to fight for their country and for the peace of the world. They have not allowed petty things to interfere with their work. That they are anxious to perform their whole duty, and in a satisfactory, soldier-like fashion, is evident.

(From the Vancouver Sun)
Some people would rather risk other people's lives by speeding a motor car than risk their own serving their country.

Just a Reminder

(From the Waterbury American)
Three successful air raids, in which more than 100 people were killed and several hundred injured, and the fact that submarine sinkings show an increase again this week, go along with the big German advance toward Petrograd and the lack of action on the western front to depress the scale against the Allies. The big and continued triumph of General Cadorna against Austria, who has just surmounted the Julian Alps, and can look down upon the plains below, which he hopes to conquer, does something to brighten the gloom, but is not in itself sufficient.

It is this feeling that just now, when American power would count most since Russian resistance is entirely withdrawn, provokes Colonel Roosevelt's severe summing up of our deficiencies. He is justified in a measure for telling the truth by the steady boasting in official announcements from Washington of what is being done. It will be a year from the time we went to war before we will be in a condition to do anything. Nearly half of that year is already gone and we have not laid on Germany so much as the weight of a finger in military action. And we cannot do it for long months to come.

Our wealth and the contributions of food to our Allies and the withholding of the same from Germany, and the great psychological encouragement our ultimate arrival supplies, are no doubt of vast benefit. But every once in a while we need to be reminded, by Roosevelt or somebody else who is not under too great restraint to speak out what is in his mind, of the fact of our helplessness behind the shelter of England and France, so that we may never be caught in the same desperate strait again.

An Ill-Fitting Role

(From the Brooklyn Eagle)
The role of Therites little fits Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. We are sorry that he made that speech at Chatham, declaring that the United States, after seven months, is still "nothing like as formidable as Belgium or Roumania." We are sorry that he rolled as a sweet morsel under his tongue the allegation that we have not a big gun in our field artillery, not an airplane fit to fly over the German border. We are sorry that he chose to quote the contemptuous Norse saga about the boastful Icelanders.

What's the use of all this bragging up and down, when three women and one goose Alaska market in your town? Food and money, the real shows of war, we have furnished to our allies with liberality. They needed both more than they needed men. The same day that Roosevelt made his unfortunate utterance, the Washington Government added $100,000,000 to its loan to France and an equal amount to its loan to England. Meanwhile we have gone ahead in a rational way to create a real army, with real equipment. The task is not over, but it is well begun. To treat with contempt what has been accomplished is not wise. To insinuate that more might have been done under our governmental system of checks and balances is not just. Nor is it characteristic of the former President, who is devoted to the glory, especially the military glory, of the United States.

Look Out, Margaret

(From the Los Angeles Times)
A local teacher of occultism recently told the members of the Friday Morning Club that religion is merely a matter of chemistry and physics. Just wait till that young woman meets a certain gentle evangelist now visiting in Los Angeles—just wait!

Will Look Out For His Own Hide

(From the Springfield Republican)
No doubt Count Luxburg, who suggested that Argentine ships were sunk all on board be put to death, will be asking for a safe conduct.

She "Walks Like a Man" (From the Charleston News and Courier.)

Kipling was evidently thinking of Russia when he wrote that poem about the female of the species being more deadly than the male.

Scattered the Moneyed But Married Money (From the Springfield Republican.)

Francis Neilson, a British pacifist and former radical member of Parliament, who was lecturing in this country a year or so ago on the alleged part of the British munitions industry in provoking the present world war, has had the good fortune to win the hand of Mrs. Edward Morris, daughter of one Chicago packer and widow of another. Most American women of great wealth who choose Englishmen for husbands are eager to be allied to the aristocracy or the governing families, but Mrs. Morris has taken for her husband a man who mingles upper classes would characterize as an agitator and a fomenter of class discord. Mr. Neilson has had an interesting career, having been as stage director and playwright as well as politician. Since the outbreak of the war he has written a pacifist novel in which the financial class of England was bitterly attacked. Not all pacifists have the good luck of Mr. Neilson, but if he continues his devotion to the causes of democracy and peace he should find his wife's fortune of considerable assistance.

At the Tomb of Washington (From the Minneapolis Journal.)

Recent pilgrimages to the tomb of Washington on the slope of Mount Vernon have taken on something of an international aspect. The fact is especially striking, because of the spontaneous character of the manifestations of reverence and respect that so many of the great ones of the earth have recently shown at the tomb on the banks of the Potomac. Without special arrangement, almost by chance the representatives of the nations have in their turn appeared there and spoken great words simply and without strain or affectation.

What Mr. Balfour said there will not soon be forgotten. Mr. Vlahut, when here with the French Mission, spoke with solemnity and grandeur of the mission and character of the Great Founder. Now the noble words of the statesman Ishii, brilliant head of the Mission from Japan, are added to the growing list.

"Men come here from the ends of the earth to honor his memory, and to reiterate their faith in the principles to which his great life was devoted. Japan claims entrance to this holy circle. She yields to none in reverence and respect." The struggle for freedom to which Washington devoted his powers and his life has widened and broadened in a way of which he himself could hardly have had foresight. In warning his grateful countrymen against entangling alliances, a warning especially useful in those times of autocracies battling to dominate, Washington certainly had no thought of a warning against entering a world alliance by which all peoples might be made safe against the ambitious schemes of blood-thirsty and irresponsible tyrants who have so many times devastated and torn down their hard-won liberties.

The world is now struggling to attain to what this nation under the guidance of Washington began with such difficulty to attain in another century, and which has since been carried to so great a measure of success. No wonder the statesmen of the world now stand with bared heads at the tomb of Washington and testify to their reverence and respect. He was one of the first born among many sons of Liberty.

Onward With God (From the Baltimore American)

In his message to the Empress the Emperor William indulges in his usual exaggerated felicitation. He says that the capture of Riga is a "new milestone of German strength and unerring will to victory." and in his message to Prince Leopold he cries "Onward with God."

At the time that the Kaiser is reconcepting the Almighty in the service of German barbarity the Americans see their conscript army pass into the Federal service for rapid training for work of arms—to carry the real message of humanity to the countries ravaged by the war lord.

Onward with God is the watchword of the Kaiser. But where the Almighty is leading him is another question. America and its Allies believe that the Almighty is indeed leading the Kaiser on, but they believe this to be to defeat and humiliation, and to certain punishment for the monstrous crimes of Germany against the rights and interests of other people. Riga will not be eternally a German city and the steel-hard will of the Teutons cannot make it so. Democracy can never be dethroned in Russia or America.

Junk For the Junkies (From the New York Evening Post)

So rarely comes good news out of Germany that, when it does, all the world should be notified. The Germans are said to be melting down their bronze statues for use in munition works! Now, a 42-centimetre shell is not a thing of beauty as it advances whining through the air at you. On the other hand neither is that monstrous Germania of the howling, brazen locks. Given the choice of one or the other, hyper-sensitive souls, delicate flowers of art, might prefer the filler of tombs. The Hohenzollern empire has since 1870, been accumulating a most unutterable lot of rubbish.

statuary. Berlin is the centre of this vast museum of ugliness, of art made to order, of a people conscripted into the army of aestheticism. But now it will be unnecessary for the Allies to invade Germany and capture Berlin. The Germans, even if they refuse to turn democratic, are at least complying with the dictates of good taste and purifying their capital. The flapping figure on top of the lofty victory-asparagus in the Konigsplatz must now come down; and all the other eyesores of perennial bronze will vanish as well, like mist in the sun. Unfortunately Prussia needs no granite as yet in the munitions industry. Red-hot stone cannon-balls have gone out since old Fritz's day. Therefore, the famous granite quarry of the Sieges Allee and the worst of the Charlottenburg mausoleum must await some other destroying hand.

TO ARRANGE FOR CONFERENCES

Concord, Sept. 11.—Mrs. William H. Schofield of Peterborough, Mrs. Geo. D. Towne of Manchester and Mrs. A. T. Dudley of Exeter were appointed a committee of the New Hampshire committee of the woman's division of the committee on national defense, to arrange for a series of meetings at which experts will explain the ways in which women may make themselves useful in war work, at a meeting of the executive committee at three state house this afternoon. Mrs. Mary I. Wood, chairman of the executive committee will also serve on this committee.

Mrs. Wood went to Washington after the meeting this afternoon to confer with the national woman's committee. On her return there will be further conferences with the state committee on public safety for suggestions as to how to go about the work. It is the purpose of the committee to have a bureau of speakers to go about the state to talk to the women, these speakers to be experts in their particular lines of endeavor.

The executive committee discussed a leaflet which is being prepared, to be sent out which will explain the purpose of the committee and the scope of the work it is undertaking to perform. Mrs. Schofield and Mrs. David E. Murphy of Concord read circular letters which they have prepared, defining the work of the departments, which met the approval of the committee. Mrs. Schofield's departments include formulating courses of instruction in which the women of the state may fit themselves for effective war work and also in interesting the women in the future liberty loans.

Mrs. Murphy has the commercial economy department in charge and one of the things she will seek to impress upon the women of the state, is that they should, insofar as is possible, carry home packages from the stores, that unnecessary deliveries by the stores may be done away with.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE.

There will be only two more weeks of "Good Gracious Annabelle" at the Park Square Theatre, Boston. No more engaging comedy has ever appeared in Boston, and the universality of opinion is exhaustive of praise for the play and production. The author of this comedy, Clare Kummer, has proved a genius in the construction of plays that radiate happiness with crystal sparkling effervescence. There is an untold quality of construction that is pure merriment in itself, and the wit of the lines strikes a new note in laughter provocation. It is the manner of production that lends particular distinction to the comedy, for the producer, Arthur Hopkins, has struck a kindred note in the tone he has given it. He has provided a cast which individually fills each part perfectly. Lola Fisher as the irrepressible Annabelle is a positive delight, and acts as though the little lady were visualized in reality. Through the playing of this role Miss Fisher has leaped into fame as one of America's leading comedienne, and New York with Boston and Chicago figuratively took her to their hearts with affectionate regard. May Vokes, so well and long known as a great funmaker along her individual lines, has a part that fits her exceedingly well through in which she creates full share of merriment. Edwin Nicander, is another popular member of the cast who fills his role with distinction. The scenic settings by Roll-Edmond Jones have come in for their full share of praise through the manner in which they so acceptably framed the comedy. With the departure of this comedy only two weeks away it behooves theatregoers who plan to attend to order their seats at the earliest possible moment. In this regard, out of town patrons are urged to use the mail order system at this theatre which assures perfect choice for seats. Matinees are given on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

PRAYER TO BE POSTED AT Y.M.C.A. CAMPS

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., Sept. 11.—Professor E. R. Groves of the Department of Sociology here has just received word from the Y. M. C. A. authorities that a prayer which he gave at a chapel meeting at the conference at Silver Bay, N. Y., this summer will be printed and posted in the Y. M. C. A. war huts along the American front in France.

Professor Groves, as a lecturer at the Y. M. C. A. summer school, conducted one of the chapel services and his prayer on that occasion attracted the attention of several editors who immediately asked for it for publication. The prayer follows:

"Lead us into the deepest life of men, Our Father, with hearts unafraid. Remove from us the blindness of our spiritual conceit that we may discover all our brothers of the spirit, and enter the peculiar fellowship of common service. Give us open minds that we may not be poisoned by our own satisfactions. Free us from the contentment of present knowledge. Let not our victories become our moral dangers. May we see our own sins more clearly than those of any other man. Protect us from even the memory of past sins. Help us win the sanity of high purposes unbroken by childish cravings. Keep from our lives the fever of thoughtless activities—the decadence of resolutions that we form for spiritual play. Separate from us moral arrogance that we may not with mean spirit hopelessly attempt to minister to the needs of men. If in the days soon to come Thou sendest any of us to stand at the gates of Hell to help men, may we have the abiding courage of those who do not, because of Thy patience with the ignorance, selfishness, and cruelty of man, fear for the security of goodness in the world. If we are forced to descend into the place of shadows where man does not help, may we not lose at any time the sense of Thy eternal presence. After the manner of Jesus may we enjoy peace in our inmost hearts, but at the frontier of our lives, suffer us to share that yearning, mystery and unrest which makes possible growth of soul."

HOLLIS WANTS MORE FEDERAL JUDGES

URGES BAN ON WHITE BREAD 2 DAYS A WEEK

Boston, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Housewife, commencing Wednesday, Sept. 19, which is one week from today, you are asked to eliminate white bread from your table two days a week, the days preferably Wednesdays and Thursdays. This request is made by Henry B. Endicott, Massachusetts Food administrator, in a proclamation addressed to the people of Massachusetts and endorsed by Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, appointed by Mr. Hoover, national food administrator, as house economics director for the state.

Mr. Endicott's proclamation is also addressed to hotel managers and restaurant proprietors. "It is a patriotic movement," said Mr. Endicott yesterday. "We need wheat not only for our armies abroad, but for the armies of our allies. Our wheat crop, although fairly good, is not large enough to permit of its unlimited use; therefore conservation is necessary."

The proclamation follows: "When I suggested to the people of Massachusetts that they eliminate white bread for a week they responded enthusiastically to show their loyalty to the country at this time."

"I agree with Mr. Hoover that the time has arrived when we should ask them to eliminate the use of white bread entirely from their tables for two days a week."

"I suggest that these two days be universally observed shall be Wednesday and Thursday, and that the plan commence on Wednesday, Sept. 19. Of course where it is not possible for any household to arrange for just those days, I ask that household to be sure that they eliminate white bread for at least two days a week, arranging the two days to suit their individual conditions."

"I also ask that this request be observed until further notice."

"It is only fair to state that it is my belief that this elimination must continue until the end of the war."

HOSPITAL SHIPS WILL BE SAFE FROM ATTACK

Paris, Sept. 12.—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Madrid says the Marquis de Lema, Spanish minister of foreign affairs, announces that King Alfonso has obtained from the belligerent powers an agreement permitting the free movement of French and English hospital ships in the Mediterranean and in the Atlantic as far as the English channel. The king is now seeking to have the same advantages extended to Italian hospital ships.

WHERE MEN OF THE SERVICE ARE BEING ENTERTAINED

The Y. M. C. A. Tent Programme and Those In Charge

The public has been aware of the fact that entertainment has been furnished for enlisted men at "the tent behind the Y. M. C. A." but it is not generally known or appreciated just what the program consisted of or to what extent individuals have served.

The tent has been opened daily from 4:30 to 7:30 where dancing, refreshments and music have been enjoyed. The Club de Vingt orchestra from York Harbor and New York, as well as the Barragut orchestra having furnished music on several occasions. Girls come to the tent on invitation of those in charge.

Refreshments consisting of lemonade or coffee, ice cream, sandwiches, and cake are given to those present, all of which are free.

Games consisting of ping pong, base ball, quills, tether ball, bows and arrows, clock golf can be indulged in.

Wednesday—Portsmouth Day—Mrs. Alfred Gooding, Mrs. A. C. Heffenger, Miss Helen Lundon.

Thursday—Mrs. Gordon Wendell, with band from York.

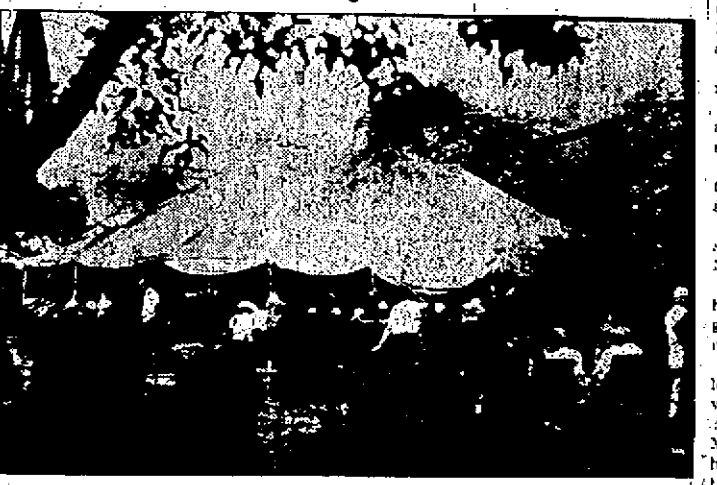

Friday—Rye Beach day—Mrs. Eugene Daniels, Mrs. Wallace Walker and committee.

Saturday—The general committee is in charge of Saturday and of the supper which follows the Y. M. C. A. service on Sunday evening. All of these committees have worked with untiring interest. Practically $3,000 has been raised through their efforts. Gifts or discounts have been given by the following local stores:

Sub committees have been responsible for different days, for instance:

Monday—York Harbor day—Mrs. Charles Fiske and committee.

Tuesday—Portsmouth day—Mrs. Henry Hovey, Mrs. Herbert Howard

Here also may be found ample reading matter, including the current magazines.

A graphophone furnishes amusement though an orchestra is hired for dancing always.

It is certain that the tent and the sociability which it has offered has met a real need in the community and plans are being made to further this work into the winter but they have not taken definite shape as yet.

The general committee is as follows: Miss Adella Barrett, Miss Frances Brooks, Mrs. J. T. Coolidge, Mr. Sidney Taber, Mrs. H. M. Toulmin, Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Mr. Hervey Wetzel and these have given not only gifts of money but very faithful service to the enterprise.

Fryer and Davis, Margeson Brothers, E. C. Matthews Hardware Co., A. P. Wendell, Wheeler Ice Cream Co., U. B. Coleman, druggist, B. A. Rolch, U. G. Sweet, R. L. and P. Co.; Iver Johnson, Boston; Mullins Co., Boston.

The actual presence and work of the ladies as well as their contributions of money have made the patriotic work a success. The fact that the boys visit the tent in large numbers is alone necessary to prove their appreciation for about 300 are present daily. Mr. Hervey Wetzel, one of our summer residents, has acted as head of the enterprise and he feels satisfied entirely with the response of the boys, as well as the service which the plan renders. He has given all his time and entire interest to the matter.

STATE BOARD MEETS AT CONCORD

Concord, Sept. 11.—The first meeting of the state board on dependents of soldiers and sailors engaged in the present war, was held today, at the state house. The board, which was created by virtue of an act of the last legislature, organized with Montgomery Rollins of Dover as chairman. The other members are Dr. Marion I. Burgess of this city and Arthur W. Laflamme of Manchester. Mr. Rollins said that application blanks would be printed as early as possible and that regular meeting days would then be fixed, when applications for aid will be considered. The board will now send the blanks to all dependents upon application, these to be filled out and sworn to before a notary.

Mr. Laflamme suggested that an effort be made to have some notary in each town volunteer to take the oaths of the applicants without charge and the board accepted the suggestion as a good one. Mr. Laflamme will make an effort to find such a public spirited notary in Manchester, himself, and it is hoped notaries in other places will come forward so that the board may make a public announcement. The members of the board are serving without pay.

WAR WORK SERVICE CLOSING

When is the Y. M. C. A. to be restored to the local boys? This is the question being asked daily at the building. A Herald man made inquiries today and learned that arrangements are now under way. The service for which the Y. M. C. A. has been put to for the past few months was to relieve the army and navy building on Daniel street. That service has been performed and the demand does not now exist. During the use of the Y. M. C. A. no social affairs have taken place at the Daniel street home, but as soon as the change is made a program will be made up.

SON OF FRENCH CONSUL ENTERS OUR SERVICE

One of the most interesting and distinguished applicants who has passed all examinations for the first lieutenant's commission as an aviator was Mr. Charles P. Flamand, a citizen of the United States and son of the French consul at Boston. At the beginning of the war Mr. Flamand desired to do service for the country of his father and entered the artillery branch of the French army. He was wounded at the battle of the Marne while acting as a post rider, again at the battle of Ypres and for the third time in the Champagne sector. This, with his other injuries, incapacitated him for further service but he has now fully recovered. He has been decorated with the war cross, two citations for distinguished service, this time as an aviator and a commissioned American officer.

TREE TRUNK GIVES TANK STEAMSHIP SUBMARINE SCARE

Boston, Sept. 12.—When is a periscope not a periscope?

When it is the stump of a tree, according to skipper and crew of an American tank steamship arriving at an Atlantic port from Cuba yesterday. But until those aboard the vessel discovered its identity of the suspicious object plans were being made to abandon ship in a hurry.

It was when the steamship was in the gulf stream last Thursday that the lookout reported to the navigating bridge that a submarine was apparently off the port bow. The captain trained his binoculars in that direction, and the object had all the appearance of the dreaded "eye" of a "sub." And so sure were the officers that they were about to be attacked that they watched for the wake of the torpedo.

"This is no periscope, but a tree stump," finally shouted the skipper who had not lost sight of the object for a moment. Then all hands breathed freely and unpacked their belongings.

RUSSIAN SITUATION VERY GRAVE

(By Associated Press)

The internal situation in Russia remains grave and chaotic and just how the problem will be solved is a question. Which ever way it will mean the downfall of either Premier Krensky or Gen. Korniloff the deposed Commander-in-chief of the Russian army, for at present neither side seems to be able to give way to the other.

Premier Krensky is the head of the provisional government, is at Petrograd making every effort to crush the revolt at the start and Gen. Korniloff is reported to be marching upon Petrograd to lay siege to the city and depose Krensky as head of the government. At present Krensky's forces are reported to be tearing up the tracks about the city with the effort to check the advance of the revolting army and loyal troops to the government are being massed to break up the siege.

It is reported that the Baltic fleet is with the provisional government and reports come that Gen. Denikin, the commander-in-chief of the southern army has sent word to Krensky that he will support Korniloff and it is officially stated that Denikin and several other generals have already been arrested.

Gen. Korniloff declares in a statement that his revolt is highly patriotic.

The Russians around Riga are still offering a stiff resistance to the Germans and do not appear to be effected by the revolt and further south along the Roumanian front in conjunction with the Roumanians they have taken the offensive and are making gains.

'BUCKLES' and VINEGAR

PICTURE many small piles of perforated lead disks of the above design but six inches in diameter. Call the disks "buckles" because they resemble the shoe buckles of Colonial days. Imagine the fumes of weak acetic acid (vinegar) and carbonic acid gas passing thru the holes in the buckles for more than three months, finally turning the blue lead white all thru.

The white lead is ground and washed to snow-white cleanness. Then, mixed to a paste with pure linseed oil, it is packed in steel containers.

You now have a fair idea of how the body of non-cracking, non-scaling house paint, is made from metal lead.

Only the addition of more than oil is needed to make Dutch Boy White-Lead into good, old-fashioned paint—the kind that keeps houses bright and sound. The paint may be left white or tinted to suit your taste.

ANXIOUS TO GET OUT OF ARMY

Camp Devens, Ayer, Sept. 11.—Several men of the draft army, have injured themselves in order that they may escape military duty. This announcement was made today by an official at division headquarters.

One drafted man, it has been discovered, pulled out seven of his teeth, and afterward claimed he was suffering from neuritis. He now has so few teeth that he is eligible for discharge. Officers say they feel certain the young man pulled out his teeth so that he would be sent home.

Out of the 200 drafted men now at Camp Devens, 60 have already been rejected, after being examined by camp physicians. The examinations have not yet been completed, and it is believed many others will be rejected later.

Col. Frank Thompson, commander of "Boston's own" regiment, went out on the field today and personally supervised the drilling of men under his command. When he saw two or three men acting awkwardly, he ordered them out of the ranks. He took their places in the line and told them to give orders, such as "forward march," "right about face," etc. Then he showed the men the proper way to do it. Later he formed an "awkward squad," comprising men who are backward in learning and who are unable to keep up with their comrades in the "school of soldiers."

Mr. Edward L. Glasgow arrived at Camp Devens today from Camp Cody, Deming, New Mexico. He has been detailed as division quartermaster. Capt. Fleming, acting division quartermaster, has been appointed assistant division quartermaster, and will now have charge of financial matters.

The soldier who stole $21 from a companion one day recently, and then deserted was caught yesterday by secret service men stationed about the camp. He will not be court-martialed, but for punishment will do extra duty.

TEN TEACHERS ELECTED FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Ten teachers were elected by the Board of Instruction at their regular meeting last evening, to fill vacancies in the teaching staff of the high school and also in the lower grades.

It was the first meeting of the Board since July and there was considerable business. Mayor Ladd presided and Supt. Pringle reported that the enrollment for this year was about the same as last year with a decided increase in the scholars from out of the city but a decrease from the city especially in the lower grades.

The resignation of Miss Mary Rand as a teacher at the Haven school was accepted. Likewise those of D. H. Woodworth and Fred Chandler of the manual training staff of the high school and Miss Azura Stackpole, all of whom had resigned to accept positions at a material increase in salary.

Requests for leaves of absence for the fall term were received from Miss M. Anna Rand and Miss Mary McWilliams and they were granted.

Supt. Pringle reported that Miss Agnes McCarthy had been transferred from the Farragut school to take Miss Rand's place in the Haven and that Miss Beatrice Bilbruck was substituting for Miss McWilliams and Miss Molly Procter of Hyde Park for Miss Rand.

The following teachers were elected to the high school staff:

Miss Gwendolyn Glendenning of Manchester, Mass., a graduate of Smith College and a teacher of experience.

Miss Lucy D. Hanscom of Stoneham, Mass., a graduate of the Salem Normal school and experienced at Norwalk, Conn.

Miss Alice Hart of Marlboro, Mass., a graduate of Middlebury and a former teacher at Saugus, Mass.

Roscoe K. Hughes of Portland, a graduate of the Gorham Normal School and a teacher last year at Norwalk, Conn.

Nathaniel E. Robinson of Pembroke, N. H., a graduate of the New Hampshire College.

For the Whipple school:

Miss Winifred Webber of Reading, Mass., a graduate of Wheaton College.

Miss Dorothy S. Thompson of Needham, Mass., a graduate of the Massachusetts Normal Art school and a former teacher in Brookline.

For the Farragut school as critic and model teacher, Miss Barbara E. Ham of South Acton, Mass., a graduate of the four years' course at the Fitchburg Normal school and a former teacher at Englewood, N. J.

For Kindergarten Farragut school—Miss Marion H. Perry of Weston, Mass., a graduate of the Wheelock school of Boston and experienced at Keene, N. H.

The telephone company notified the board that they would discontinue six party lines after October first and the committee on school houses were authorized to make new contracts.

Mayor Ladd was authorized to sign the tuition contract with the town of Rye.

Supt. Pringle reported that the training school had only three in the senior class and as it was necessary to have five assistants at the Farragut school he recommended that Misses Leary and Hynde be reengaged for this year and that Misses Julia Butler, Edith Clough and Pearl Hoyt of the class of 1917 be appointed and the recommendation was adopted.

BATTLE WITH U-BOATS STILL UNCONFIRMED

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Sept. 11.—A typographical error in transmitting a message to the press from an official report made it appear that six submarines were destroyed, whereas the facts are that so far as it now appears only one submarine and two merchant men were sunk. A corrected statement was later issued by Secretary Daniels. The department has only a meager report and this comes from the tanker Westwego which arrived at a French port. The tanker was on her way to France and from the report evidently sailing in company with other merchantmen and under convoy. The action is reported to have taken place Sept. 5 and reported on the 8th. The brief statement was that "six submarines had made a massed attack upon the merchantmen and had been repulsed after two ships were sunk and one U-boat sunk."

WASHINGTON ANXIOUS ABOUT RUSSIA

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Sept. 11.—Whether Russia faces disorder and loses the fruit of the revolution depends upon the speed in which the revolt of the deposed Commander-in-chief of the Russian army develops. If Gen. Korniloff makes a spectacular showing and can swing enough of the army with him so as to cause some of the political parties who are now wavering to swing to his support, or whether Premier Kerensky can hold together the various factions and in this way crush the revolt and adopt some of the sterner methods that are advocated by Gen. Korniloff is to be seen.

SUFFRAGE A DEAD LETTER IN MAINE

(By Associated Press)

Portland, Me., Sept. 11.—Woman's suffrage in Maine was defeated by a larger majority than first reported and the suffragists only carried two cities and one county. The official figures last night with a few towns still missing, were for, 19,272; against, 26,387.

From the returns it is probable that the amendment giving the governor power to remove sheriffs was carried, the vote was: for, 23,773; against, 21,221. The military law and town divisions were defeated.

SECY. DANIELS WANTS THE FACTS

Why Sixty-One Navy Yard Men Were Exempted From Military Service.

From all accounts it looks as if the navy department is very anxious for the ins and outs of the exemption of men employed at the Portsmouth navy yard who have succeeded in escaping the war draft in York county, Me., and Rockingham and Strafford counties in New Hampshire. The list of those who have been exempted is said to include 20 in the second district of York County, 3 from Dover and 37 from the second district in Rockingham county. Among the lot are mechanics and helpers. The secretary of the navy is said to be seeking all information possible concerning this matter and has requested the date when each man began his labors for the government, what is the nature of the work on which he is employed and what he is paid per diem.

It is understood that the investigation grew out of protests by young men included in the war draft who are not government workmen and who failed in seeking exemption before the war boards.

From previous reports printed in the papers of the country, the young men who were not exempt believed that certain government workmen were not entitled to exemption and thus the protest.

EDWARDS WANTS NO "COLD FEET" IN THE 26TH

Comments on Plattsburg Men Asking Transfers.

Declares Men Afraid to Go to France Can Put in Resignations.

Boston, Sept. 12.—"The 26th is not going to be a cold feet division"; its men are going to be the best in New England.

Thus declared Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, commander of the division, in discussing yesterday afternoon requests that have come to him from several Plattsburg men seeking transfer to the Ayer training camp.

"If any Plattsburg men want to leave the division because they are afraid to go overseas, I want to get rid of them. They need not put in for a transfer to Ayer; they can put in their resignations instead."

Gen. Edwards added that this is no time for politics in any regiment in the 26th Division.

"I will fight politics in the 26th Division," he asserted, "and I will eliminate it sooner or later. The division is composed of troops that are a part of the United States army. We should see to it that every man gets his rightful dues; that there is no unwelcome discrimination and no favoritism."

One of Gen. Edwards' callers at division headquarters yesterday was Mayor Curley.

Gen. Edwards said last evening that he will go to Springfield Thursday, if possible, for the parade in honor of the 104th Infantry, composed of the old 2d, 8th and 6th regiments.

Maj. Gen. Butler Ames of the Massachusetts State Guard, with his staff, paid a complimentary call yesterday on Brig. Gen. John A. Johnston, commander of the Northeastern Department, returning a call that Gen. Johnston paid Gov. McCall last week.

BOARD OF ADVISORS ENTERTAINMENT

Mrs. John Yarwood is entertaining the members of the board of advisors for the Home for Aged Women at her summer home at Rollins Farm station. The ladies enjoyed a basket lunch and a grand good time was had.

A blast in a chamber of a coal mine near Hazleton, Penn., carried a cow, which was grazing on the grass 100 feet above, down with the debris into the hole, but the cow was unharmed and was led out through a gangway and freed.

HERALD HEARS

That the result of the special election in Maine on Monday shows that the ladies were treated very ungentlemanly.

That even Kittery took a hand in the game and was counted against suffrage.

That the Elliot and Greenland men have not as yet arrived with that big mushroom.

That once more the automobiles and kids with bicycles helped to interfere with the fire apparatus when the fire occurred off High street on Tuesday.

That one of the men called in the last war draft from outside the city was some brave lad when he appeared for examination before the local board.

That he told the clerk that he was ready for fight, although he was married.

That he was a white man and no slacker.

That he wanted to do his bit.

That the clerk said: "You want exemption?"

That he answered: "My wife can ask it, but I never will."

That the clerk told him it made no difference which asked for it, that he could do it as well as his wife and save her the trouble.

That the would-be hero lost no time in snatching the pen from the clerk's hand and placing his name on the card for discharge.

That the police believe that women have been taking a hand in boot-legging.

That a Portsmouth business man says he is going to dispose of all his property here and go south.

That the contractors are making quick work of Daniel street.

That the war draft exemption of navy yard men has evidently started something.

That the frost hit the crops in Elliot pretty hard.

That the clerks and proprietors at Somersworth are having quite an argument about closing for half holiday on Thursday.

That all but one or two have agreed to close, and now they say they cannot do so unless all agree to the proposition.

That a couple of Portsmouth sports say they are aware that there was a frost on Tuesday night.

That bunking in an auto in the woods on a cold night is past the joke stage.

That a young man in the list of those called for examination in the war draft says he has been credited with asking for exemption on account of dependent parents.

That he does not like the report and says he was discharged on account of his teeth.

That he cannot understand now why his teeth barred him but perhaps the doctor can.

That another young man affected with a rupture told the examining physicians that he hoped they would not discover his trouble and that he thought there was a chance of his getting by as he wanted to fight.

That the examining physicians then took him at his word.

That they told him that they would take him to the hospital and perform an operation, then he could get under the Stars and Stripes.

That they also told him that the operation at the hospital would not cost him a nickel and would be a great benefit.

That this declaration staggered him, but the hospital, never!

That the doctors told him it was as good one way as the other.

That if he went in the trenches he was likely to be shot and that was no worse than being cut a little in the operation.

That the outcome was that he didn't want to be either shot or cut.

That the Portsmouth Fair Association is coming out on the big end this year.

That the canning factory at Greenland is doing a big business.

Lessons must be learned even about shoes. This is a subject that we have studied for years, until now we feel qualified to act as teachers of the right sort of shoes for school children to wear. It is not all a matter of durability, this virtue must be accompanied with perfection of fit, and good looks.

This week we are making special efforts in our Children's Shoe Department, giving exceptional service to the requirements of Fall School days.
